THE FRY MURDER CASE

Jerome Fry of Gagen Is Held For Trial at the Next Session of the Circuit Court—Bonds Furnished.

The case of the state against Jerome Fry, the section foreman charged with the murder of John C. Johnson, proprietor of a saloon at Gagen Saturday, Sept. 26, was brought up before the Municipal Judge last Thursday, District Attorney Sam. S. Miller looking after the state's interests and Attorney A. W. Shelton appearing for the defendant. Johnson died from the effects of fractures of the skull and his head bore witness to the fact that he had been struck three blows with a club or stake.

Fry had given himself up to the officers here owing to a fight he had had with Johnson in the latter's saloon.

Fry testified in his own behalf as did also his brother, E. M. Fry, Frank Wheeler and Roadmaster Jerry O'Connor of the "Soo" line who saw part of the fracas in the saloon. The burden of the testimony was that Fry acted in self defense, protecting himself from attacks by Johnson. It appears that the trouble started over some money matters between the two men, Fry claiming that Johnson owed him and that he wanted him to endorse a railroad time check over to him to apply on account. The check had been given to Fry to hand to Johnson and upon the latter's refusal to endorse it over to Fry the trouble began that ended in Johnson's death. A number of blows were struck but Fry did not apprehend serious results at the time. When he saw that Johnson's condition was serious he came here for a doctor and upon the man's death gave himself up to the law.

O. A. Hitzemann, Arthur Taylor and Justice F. M. Mason testified on behalf of the state and discussed the appearance of the building after the fight, also as to the condition of Johnson's body. Doctors Hogan and Garner gave medical testimony as to the probable causes of Johnson's death and regarding the wounds on the head and fracture of the skull.

The judge, after hearing the arguments of the counsel and testimony of witnesses bound the defendant over to the November term of their court on a charge of manslaughter. Bail was fixed at $1,000 which was furnished by I. G. Fry of Rhinelander County, this state, the father of the accused.

Dynamiters at Eagle River.

A steam thrashing machine owned by Carter & Emmons of Eagle River, was blown up by dynamite at Three Lakes Sunday night. The loss is placed at $500. The machine had been operating in the vicinity of Three Lakes for over a week and it is thought that the deed was done by parties who held a grudge against the owners. The same night over one hundred and fifty pounds of dynamite was stolen from P. S. Campbell's store at Three Lakes.

"SOO" LINE BRACKENWAY KILLED.

James Quinn Falls Between the Cars Near Hunters Spur.

James Quinn, a brakeman on a Soo line freight train, running between this city and Gladstone, Mich., was killed near Hunters Spur, a siding west of Gladstone, last Thursday afternoon. At Hunters Spur the engine stopped for water and the last men of Quinn was shortly after the train pulled out of the siding, walking over the tops of the cars. He was not missed until the train had covered about ten miles. The engine was then uncoupled from the rest of the train, and with the caboose, hurried back to the Spur, where Quinn was found lying in the middle of the track horribly mangled. It is thought that he fell between the cars and that death was instantaneous. His remains were picked up and taken to his home in Gladstone. The unfortunate man leaves a wife and one child. He has been in the employ of the "Soo" road for some years and was next in line for promotion to conductor. He had many friends among the railroad boys in this city and to them his unhappy ending proved a sad blow.

DOINGS AT HIGH SCHOOL

(BY MICHELLE ANDERSON)

A meeting of girls interested in the Girls' Literary Society was held on Tuesday after school. The following officers were elected: President, Lillian Foster; vice-president, Margaret Ship; secretary, Dot Barnes; treasurer, Stella Didier. The meeting was then adjourned until Friday. By organizing as early in the year the co-ed section of the school undoubtedly intends to make things interesting for the boys in a literary way. Prof. Lowell considers the work of our literary society of material benefit to all scholars and advises all to join them. The boys' literary society will be organized immediately after the close of the football season.

The football game with Ironwood for Saturday next has been cancelled as Ironwood plays Ishpeming for the championship of the upper peninsula on that date. Instead of this Rhinelander will play Bessemer here and an interesting game is expected. This may be the last game of the season at Rhinelander and all should turn out and see it.

Mr. N. Stille, representing Larned's history for ready reference called at school this week. The school is already provided with the above set.

The literary program which was to have taken place Friday next has been postponed one week on account of lack of time for preparation.

Mr. Baldwin, representing Dodd, Mead & Co., selling the new International Encyclopedia was at the High school this week.

The Ukero class has begun the English-Latin translations of "In Latinum Ukero."

Frank Caulkins was absent Tuesday on account of illness.

EX-CONVICT IS ARRESTED

Man Who Has Served Term in the State Prison at Waupun Is Taken In By Chief Matteson.

Acting upon telegraphic information received from the sheriff of Shawano county last Saturday Chief of Police Matteson arrested a man traveling under the name of George Barnette.

The telegram stated that a man answering Barnette's description was wanted at Waupun for a serious offense and his arrest was ordered. Chief Matteson had no trouble locating the man and he was soon in the toils of the law.

It appears that the prisoner traveled under several aliases, among them George Wise and George Forsythe. Under the name of Wise he attempted an assault of a serious nature on the person of a seven-year-old girl at Eldron, a town near Waupun Monday of last week. The girl had gone to a neighbor's for milk and was followed by the man. The screams of the child attracted the attention of a man, who however, did not care to cope single handed with the assailant who weighed over 200 pounds. When he arrived on the scene with assistance the man had made his escape.

It is thought that the prisoner's name is George Forsythe and that he hails from Green Bay. If this supposition is correct the man is an ex-convict, having served a ten years' sentence at the Waupun prison for an assault of a similar nature.

John J. Remo of this city, who was a cook in the state prison states that he recognized Forsythe as one of the inmates when he was there.

The father of the little girl mentioned above accompanied Sheriff Belka of Waupun here Saturday and they returned with the prison Saturday forenoon.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Fride of Tomahawk were in Rhinelander last Friday.

SPOONER IS BOUND OVER

Special Policeman Is Bound Over For Trial Before Circuit Judge Silverthorne In November.

Ben Spooner's preliminary examination on the charge of "assault with intent to kill," took place before Municipal Judge Browne last Wednesday, Oct. 7. Spooner was bound over to appear at the November term of Circuit Court before the Circuit Judge to answer to the charge as preferred, bonds being fixed at $1,000.00. The bonds were promptly furnished, the sureties being Thos. McDermott, Jr., William Daniels and James McGowan.

The cause that led up to the arrest of Spooner was the shooting of Frank McBurney on the morning of Aug. 21. Ball was fired at $2.50 after the shooting pending the condition of McBurney's wound which, it was thought, would result in his death, the ball having passed through the stomach and lodged in the back. The operation performed by the local surgeons, however, was most successful and the wounded man had so far recovered that he was enabled to be around before the examination last week.

From the evidence submitted it appeared that Spooner had threatened to kill the plaintiff, also that latter had been engaged between the two men owing to family difficulties. The meeting of Spooner and McBurney on the morning of the shooting was witnessed by the plaintiff's brother, James McBurney, and his nephew, Bert McBurney, both of whom were with him when he was shot. They were coming up the North-Western tracks on their way to their work when they noticed Spooner coming toward them. From their evidence it appears that he took a revolver from his pocket as he approached them and held it in his hand pointed in the plaintiff's direction, that he shot deliberately at McBurney and that the shooting was unwarranted.

The testimony of the witnesses appeared to be strong for the state as there was no question as to the shooting having been done and no plea of self defense was entered by Spooner's attorney, A. W. Shelton.

Married at Antigo.

Mr. Jas. Trumbull of Whitewater and Mrs. Emma Reel of this city were quietly married at Antigo last Saturday morning. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hanson of the Baptist church there. After the wedding the couple left on a short tour through the southern part of the state. The bride has made Rhinelander her home for several years and is well known among its people. The groom has resided here only a few months and up to last week was employed on the new library building. Mr. and Mrs. Trumbull will continue to make their home in this city.

Mrs. Levi J. Billings is visiting relatives and friends in the southern part of the state. She will be gone for a number of weeks.

THE CHURCH IN POLITICS.

Its Influence as Viewed From a Woman Suffrage Standpoint.

In a recent sermon Rev. W. J. Cady of Stamford, Conn., ended a vigorous sermon on local conditions by saying:

"I ask you to throw the primaries for the purpose of demanding the nomination of the cleanest, purest and best type of American manhood that can be found. If we fail to do this, then our nation will die."

Does not Rev. Cady and all other ministers who are making similar appeals to their congregations realize that they are made to a class of people, the great majority of whom have no right to go to the primaries or no power to influence the nomination or election of any candidate?

The church census shows that only one-fourth or one-fifth of the attendance is of the masculine gender, the three-fourths have no influence in the election. How much more sensible it would be if these ministers would appeal to the women in their congregation to demand the ballot which would give them the right "to throw the primaries for the purpose of demanding the nomination of the cleanest, purest and best type of American manhood that can be found."

If the church ever hopes to influence elections it must secure the enfranchisement of women.

THE IRISH PAWNBRACKERS.

A Boisterous Comedy That Removes Writings and Makes One Glad.

"The Irish Pawnbrokers" took a huge audience at the opera house by storm Sunday evening. Every seat was taken and many were content to stand in the rear of the house during the performance. Sceldom before has a more representative audience greeted a Sunday evening attraction and from the rise of the curtain to the end the enthusiasm was intense, and round after round of applause testified to the appreciation of those present. "The Irish Pawnbrokers" recently made a decided hit in Milwaukee and the excellence of the show was widely heralded with the result that the house was sold out long before the play began. As an open date was on the company's books for Monday, October 12, a return engagement will be played here on that day and there is every reason to expect another packed house on this occasion.

The above is but a small part of a long article taken from the Oshkosh Northwestern of Oct. 5. Detailed mention of the actors and their parts was most favorable in tone. The place abounds in high grade musical specialties and a quartette of unusual excellence is carried. The play will be put on at the opera house here tomorrow (Friday) night, Oct. 16. Seats at Carling's music store.

NEW NORTH.

RHINELANDER - WISCONSIN

It is reported that a New York man who smoked from 60 to 80 cigarettes a day has gone crazy. Didn't have far to go, evidently.

It has been discovered that chickens do not suffer from tuberculosis, which ought to be some consolation to chicken-hearted people.

North Dakota comes to the front with the first man of the season frozen to death. The things that make North Dakota famous are rather hard on her citizens.

The bureau of immigration reports that the increase in arrivals for the first two months of this fiscal year, as compared with last year, is 33 per cent. Month before last 61,577 immigrants came, as against 45,519 in August, 1902.

Capital punishment received the severest test in recent times the other day when the three brothers Van Wormer were executed at Dannemora, N. Y. Only once before has society claimed the death of three members of one family in that state.

The new mixed commission to carry out the programme of reforms in Macedonia will sit temporarily at Mostar, and judging from reports, the more temporarily it sits there the better chance the members will have of attaining a ripe old age.

Imports of gold last year were $15,000,000 and exports $17,000,000. During the same time $128,000,000 in gold was deposited at the mints and assay offices of the United States. The proportion of gold in circulation in this country is 42 per cent.

With the hold-up and the cable cars and the beer wagons and the water supply, life is far more precarious in Chicago than it was 100 years ago, when Fort Dearborn was founded. Then the Indian and the eagle were the only deadly enemies of the white man.

A scientist asserts that the light of a piece of radium will not last forever, but will wear itself out in the course of 50,000 years. That will answer average demands. Let posterity do something for itself. Maybe it will laugh at radium as ridiculously antiquated.

Murder by dynamite for the purpose of robbery is added to the list of highwaymen's methods. Such a selfish amendment to the usual processes of the robber should be suppressed with the utmost severity. The pirates of old were gentlemen compared with some of the modern outlaws of the hold-up.

Postmaster General Payne has approved a new design for a two-cent postage stamp, which will succeed the "flag" stamp, which has been in use for about six months and which has been greatly criticised. The bureau of engraving and printing is now making the plates from which the 4,000,000 two-cent stamps needed during the next twelve months will be printed.

Chief Justice Lore, of Delaware, who has taken such a decided stand against lynching, is opposed to capital punishment. "I would not take life for the commission of crime," he says, "but would put the criminal under such restraint as would protect the people and give him the full measure of his day to work out such penitence and reformation as all good influences might produce. Life is too sacred and too holy a thing to be taken. I would grant life so long as God spared each one of his creatures."

Commander Peary, of the United States navy, who has leave of absence to try for the north pole again, is quoted as saying that "it cost $200,000 to defend the cup in the recent yacht races and that a quarter of that sum would be sufficient for us to reach the pole." Arctic exploration or north pole hunting excites only languid interest, but this way of putting it might awaken attention. Commander Peary has devoted the best years of his life to this quest, and, undeterred by difficulties, not the least of which have been financial, will try again.

The announcement that Great Britain has lifted its embargo on American cattle is of interest even to people who only know such portions of American cattle as are delivered to them off the broiler or out of the oven, because it has followed the thorough stamping out of the foot and mouth disease in this country; and the thorough stamping out of the foot and mouth disease is an achievement for which the agricultural department can not receive too much credit. Uncle Sam can stamp out almost anything.

Secretary of the Interior Hitchcock says of the workings of the new irrigation law: "The plan is for the government to develop the water supply, which will be rented to landholders. When the system of watering is completed the improvements will be sold to the landholders and the money appropriated for the work will thus be turned over and over. As soon as one district is provided with irrigation the money realized from the sale of water rights will be used in improving another district." Of all economic conceptions this is one of the most important and promising.

DELUGE IN THE EAST.

Life Lost and Property Worth Many Millions Destroyed by Storm.

New York, Oct. 10.—Torrential rain, commencing early Thursday morning and continuing with scarcely any interruption until late Friday afternoon, during which time the unprecedented precipitation of 10.64 inches was reported at the local weather bureau, laid New York city and all the surrounding country under a flood, causing damage that will amount to many hundred thousands of dollars. Along the river front and in many sections of Brooklyn cellars were flooded and an enormous amount of damage done. A great portion of the subway was badly flooded.

Suburban steam and trolley lines, with hardly an exception, were crippled by floods and washouts and in the early morning rush hours thousands of suburban residents were unable to reach their offices in the city.

Great damage was done in New York state. Two men were drowned at Garrettsville by the carrying away of a bridge over which they were driving. At Big Hill, near Newburg, two men were killed in a landslide.

Reports of extensive floods and serious damage to property and interruptions of traffic came from almost all sections of New Jersey and Long Island.

In Newark, Passaic and other large manufacturing centers, many factories were closing down owing to the flooding of engine rooms. In many places electric light and power plants were shut down for the same reason. A dam on the Ramapo river at Pompton broke, flooding the valley for ten miles, but causing no loss of life.

Paterson was one of the worst sufferers, and the loss to property by the flood is estimated at fully $1,000,000. Only one life was reported lost, that of a girl drowned by the carrying away of a bridge over a creek.

Philadelphia, Oct. 10.—Two deaths, due to the high winds, were reported Friday. At York, Pa., Walter Hoyer, a 12-year-old boy, was standing on the bank of the city reservoir when the wind swept him into the water and he was drowned.

John Brown, living at Crum Lynn, a short distance from this city, was drowned in the same manner. He was standing on the bank of Crum creek and was blown into the stream, which was quite high.

Passed Away.

Milwaukee, Oct. 10.—Christian Koerner, aged 60 years, one of the best-known German colonists in the northwest, who was for many years connected with the editorial department of the Germania, in this city, is dead at Lawrence, Minn., from a complication of diseases. Mr. Koerner was well known in German newspaper circles throughout the country. Early in life he was a Lutheran minister, and had charges at Boston, Mass., and Norwich, Conn.

Indicted.

St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The federal grand jury late Friday returned indictments against W. A. Morrow, assistant private secretary to Gov. A. K. Dockery, and Thomas E. Barrett, formerly marshal of the St. Louis court of appeals. The indictments were reported to Judge Elmer H. Adams, of the United States district court, and charge the defendants with aiding, abetting and conspiring to fraudulently naturalize aliens.

Killed by Tramps.

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 10.—Leonard C. Dore, a young man living in Walkerston, Ind., was murdered on top of a Northern Pacific box car at North Town Junction Thursday night. It is supposed that he was killed by four tramps who sought to rob him of money which he carried.

Sentenced for Vandalism.

A Sad Case.

Marquette, Wis., Oct. 10.—Mrs. Vincent, of Egg Harbor, mother of the young woman lost on the steamer Hackley, has gone insane over the sad affair, and has been taken to the asylum. One of her daughters was a teacher and the other a milliner, about 17 and 19 years of age, respectively.

Disaster in a Mine.

Johnstown, Pa., Oct. 10.—The breaking of a "dilly" rope in the Sunshine mine of the Situmam Coal company, at South Fork, late Friday, caused the death of two men and the serious and perhaps fatal injury of five more.

Never.

Never fail to stare at pretty girls or unattractive women, or they may think that you are lacking in good taste.

CABINET PATCHED UP.

Men of Little Public Fame Figure in the Reconstituted British Ministry.

London, Oct. 6.—The three weeks' cabinet crisis has ended in a manner more remarkable and dramatic than that of its inception. Mr. Balfour's new ministry affords a measure of the enormous difficulty he has had to contend with in the task of reconstruction, and its composition seems to indicate that the premier himself can have little belief in its durability. The most sanguine supporters of the government express the smallest hopes of such an administration living many months, and the prevalent idea is that there will be a general election before parliament reassembles.

The withdrawal of the Duke of Devonshire is a heavy blow. Had he remained the government might possibly have survived another parliamentary session by avoiding legislation dealing with the fiscal problem, but with him goes the support of the strong party of liberal unionists.

The new cabinet is composed as follows: Mr. Broderick, formerly secretary of war, succeeds Lord George Hamilton as secretary for India.

Austen Chamberlain, postmaster general, succeeds Mr. Ritchie as chancellor of the exchequer.

Alfred Lyttelton, recorder of Oxford, succeeds Joseph Chamberlain as secretary for the colonies.

H. O. Arnold-Forster, secretary to the admiralty, succeeds Mr. Broderick as secretary of war.

Graham Murray, lord advocate of Scotland, succeeds Lord Balfour of Burleigh as secretary for Scotland.

Lord Stanley, financial secretary of the war office, succeeds Austen Chamberlain as postmaster general.

CHINA SIGNS TREATY.

Treaty in Manchuria Opened to American Trade—The United States Senate Must Ratify.

Shanghai, Oct. 9.—The commercial treaty between the United States and China was signed Thursday by Sheng Kung Hao, Lu Kai Han, United States minister to China, and Consul General Goodnow and Mr. Sze-mann.

Requests for the publication of the text were officially refused until it has been submitted to the United States. The treaty between Japan and China was also signed.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The state department was informed Thursday that the American-Chinese commercial treaty had been signed at Shanghai.

The principal points of the treaty are briefly as follows:

First, settlement of the long-vested question of internal taxation in China.

Second, recognition of Americans' right of residence throughout the empire for missionary work.

Third, protection of patents, trademarks and copyrights.

Fourth, mining rights.

Fifth, opening of new localities to international trade in the part of the empire in which the United States has vast commercial interests.

Sixth, right to carry on trade, industries and manufactures in all parts of China.

Members of Mob Indicted.

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 9.—The grand jury of Moore county has returned a joint indictment against 22 members of a mob charged with lynching the negro, Allen Small, on the night of September 24. The defendants are indicted for murder in the second degree, as the attorney general and grand jury thought this course more prudent and more likely to result in convictions than would an indictment for murder in the first degree. The indictment makes the case bailable and nearly all of the defendants will be released on bond.

SHIPS IN WAR TRIM.

Japanese and Russian War Vessels Gather Off Korean Coast as for Battle.

Tientsin, Oct. 9.—A telegram from Yui Kow, under date of October 8, states that the Russians are taking no steps to evacuate New Chwang. Reports from the north show that they are holding their positions everywhere.

Paris, Oct. 9.—Official information received here shows that a formidable Russian fleet, comprising 50 warships of all classes, has left Port Arthur and has arrived at Ma-San-Pho, south of Korea, where the Japanese fleet had already arrived. The Russian ships have anchored within the Ma-San-Pho harbor, alongside the Japanese ships.

Several brigades of Russian troops have been moved forward to the Korean boundary and are now encamped on the border. Diplomatic negotiations are still proceeding at Tokio.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 10.—The statement published in the United States by a news agency that an anti-Japanese war sentiment prevails here is false. "Jingoism," the government remains peacefully disposed, and the foreign office disclaims the slightest sentiment of hostility.

The newspapers here publish extracts from the Japanese press, indicating hostility to Russia, but the Russian editorials preserve studied calmness.

Port Arthur, Oct. 12.—The Novik fleet, which the Japanese have landed in Korea, but admits that Russia is making military preparations to force Japan out of that country. It says the real dispute is not over Korea.

The Manchurian convention between Russia and China was signed April 8, 1902, and according to the evacuation of the Manchurian province was to be carried out in three successive periods of six months from the signing of the convention. A note from M. Lessar was appended to the convention declaring that "if the Chinese government, notwithstanding the assurances given by it, violates any provision of the convention, the Russian government will not hold itself bound either by the declarations previously made in connection with the matter, and will be compelled to repudiate any responsibility and consequences that might result therefrom." China was to be permitted to maintain whatever force she thought necessary in Manchuria after the evacuation of that territory. Russia also agreed if Tientsin was restored to the Chinese within the first six months this restoration was made. The allies turned over Tientsin to the Chinese August 15 last year. The convention was to have been ratified within three months, but this was not done. Last month Mr. Lessar, in his note to the Chinese foreign board, promised to begin the evacuation of Manchuria October 8, provided China accepted several conditions, which China has failed to do, under pressure principally from Japan and Great Britain.

FATAL EXPLOSION.

Seven Persons Lose Their Lives Through a Blast in a Peoria (Ill.) Millinery.

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 5.—Seven men were killed, three dangerously injured and property worth $100,000 destroyed by the explosion of an immense cooker in the Corning distillery at nine o'clock Saturday morning. The dead are: James McManus, cooker man; Charles C. Powell; James O'Keefe; laborer; E. Schaefer; George C. George; Guy Brenham, yeast maker; John Wilson, United States storekeeper. All of the dead were terribly scalded by the escaping steam. Every man in the building was killed, the injured being outside.

The damage to the buildings and machinery is estimated by Manager Peter Casey at about $100,000, and it will be three months before the plant will be in operation again. The distillery is an independent concern, is owned by the Cornings, and has been in operation less than two years.

RAGING FLOODS.

High Water Causes Horrific Damage in New Jersey Cities of Paterson and Passaic.

Paterson, N. J., Oct. 12.—With the waters of the Passaic river falling at the rate of an inch an hour above the falls and at double that rate below them apprehension of further great disaster to the city from the flood has almost disappeared, the sole question being whether Spruce street hill, the narrow embankment which holds the waters above the falls, can continue to withstand the strain until the river recedes to its normal proportions. At the height of the flood this hill, standing between the river basin above the falls and the lower valley, was rapidly caving away from the gorge below the falls. Linneman Horace Riley losing his life in one such caving-in, and it was feared that the flood would wash away the dyke and precipitate itself in a huge wall upon that portion of the city lying below. A dyke but little wider than the Spruce street roadway stood between the city and this disaster, but it is still holding firm and the police feel reasonably sure of its permanency, though prohibiting access to it for fear it might be undermined.

Thousands of persons are temporarily homeless, most of them being relocated at the houses of friends in the unflooded district, while 1,500 were sheltered at the armory, fed and cared for by the organized charity of the city. No assistance has been asked from outside and the city will look after its destitute. Sunday many persons who had remained in their homes in the flooded districts were removed and food was conveyed to those who remained, the fire department rixing up emergency lines from roof to roof, with cars suspended thereon for this purpose. Only three fatalities have been reported.

The damage to mill property is chiefly from the submergence of portions of the plants and great quantities of products. Thousands of men, women and children will be out of employment for a long time and it seems altogether probable that this flood will cause the city of Paterson a greater loss of money and property than the fire of nearly two years ago. The gross loss then was $5,000,000, with an insurance of more than $1,000,000. The loss to-day is estimated at considerably more than $2,000,000, with no insurance.

Many buildings have collapsed and the foundations of many have been weakened by the flood and some of these may fall. The total will also be largely augmented by the loss throughout Passaic county, reports of bridges washed away, roads destroyed and property and crops ruined coming from all points. The loss in the county outside of Paterson will equal that inside of the city.

Passaic is a greater sufferer from the flood than even Paterson. Twenty mills in Passaic alone are under water and 8,000 workers are out of employment. Ten thousand persons have left their homes. Eight hundred houses are flooded to the eaves, and in all 1,600 acres are covered with water from a depth of a few inches to 20 feet. Several million feet of lumber have been carried down to Newark Bay. In Weast Brook the Erie tracks are suspended in the air, the 20-foot embankment having been washed away. Twenty three-story frame houses have gone floating down the Passaic river, and as far as can be estimated the loss of city property, real estate and buildings, is $2,000,000.

New York, Oct. 12.—Enormous damage was done Saturday by a gale along the Atlantic coast and interior towns and cities are suffering from floods following Friday night's excessive rainfall. Railways running west from this city were tied up, rivers in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania are swollen in some cases above all records; bridges and buildings have been swept away and people forced to flee from their inundated homes.

On the Morris canal, at Bloomfield, N. J., the big aqueduct broke, flooding the north end of the town, while the business district is waist deep with water. Two children were drowned.

Two men were drowned at Port Jervis, N. Y., when the 611-foot suspension bridge across the Delaware river, connecting Port Jervis and Matamoras, Pa., collapsed.

Friskets between here and Philadelphia had an effect on the business of the United States subtreasury. Part of the usual daily consignment of new currency from Washington, which was received this morning, was found to be soaked with Delaware river water. It was so injured it was decided to return it to the capital. The total consignment was about $2,000,000 and the amount sent as unusable was about $100,000 in silver certificates and $800,000 in gold certificates. The bills were to wet the colors had run on some of them.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Fire Saturday destroyed the grain elevator of S. S. Dalt & Sons, in the outskirts of the city, and two freight cars loaded with grain. Loss, $100,000; only partially insured. The origin is unknown.

Fire in Hot Springs.

Hot Springs, S. D., Oct. 12.—Fire early Sunday in the center of the business center of the town caused a loss of between $50,000 and $75,000, distributed among 16 business houses. The buildings were mainly small structures, but the stocks of merchandise were quite large. The total insurance is not to exceed $2,000.

Big Price for Fox Terrier.

London, Oct. 12.—The champion fox terrier, "Baby Coastguard," bred by the duchess of Newcastle, was sold on Saturday to a San Francisco breeder for nearly $2,500.

The Picturesque Land of Sulu and Its Sultan

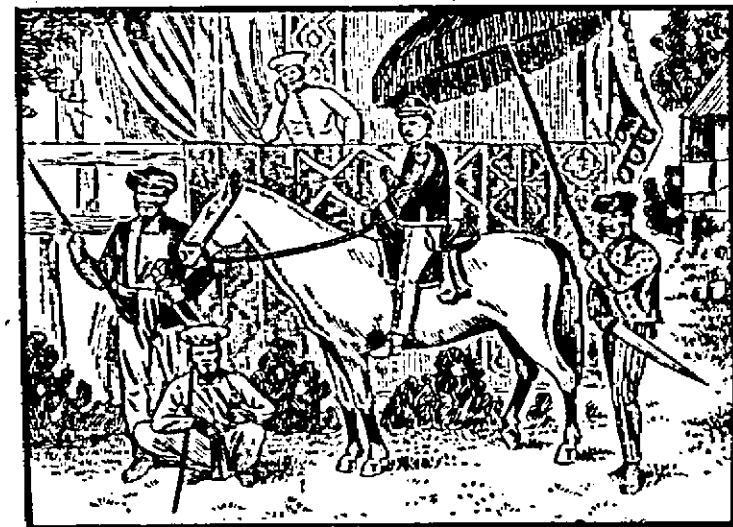

The People are Taking Kindly to American Methods and Growing Weary of Their Potentate.

Our friend, the sultan of Sulu, is no longer an American subject. He has left his native land (Sulu is his native land), utterly cast his dust from his feet, and taken up residence in Singapore. There he accompanied him into exile his six wives, his retinue of slaves, and the magnificent dattos that form his cabinet.

The reason assigned for his departure is the increasing weakness of his hold upon the throne, and two causes are given for this decrease of power: one that the American invasion has affected his authority, the other the fact that he has no male heirs. It is believed that the sultan, who is a physical wreck, will not have long to enjoy life in the Straits settlement, not long to enjoy the pension from the United States. A short life and a merry one, is evidently the motto of this royal personage.

Among the poorer classes in Sulu a man seldom aspires to more than one wife—he can't afford it. But the sultan, the dattos, and some of the other chiefs indulge in a plurality of wives, being encouraged thereto by their religion, the Mohammedan. When the United States made treaty with the sultan, promise was given him that our government would not interfere with the religion and customs of the Moros; but even if that promise had not been made, it certainly would have been no easy matter for us to abolish the Moro institutions of polygamy and slavery.

As to slavery in Sulu, we are repeatedly told that it is very different from that once in practice in this country. There is not the same social degradation, the relation does not place a gulf between master and man. Both wear the same sort of clothes, eat at the same table, and live in the same house. Often a slave is given an opportunity to purchase his freedom, but makes no use whatever of the opportunity, is indifferent to liberty.

The land of Sulu is beautiful with the luxuriance of tropical foliage and bloom, and it is one of the most beautiful regions in all the Philippines. Life there is not very strenuous, not even the slaves having to make much struggle for existence. The surrounding waters supply fish in abundance, the land gives plentiful, easily gathered harvests of coconuts, mangoes, bananas and numberless other fruits. It is said very little manual work is done by anyone, even the slaves working only when they feel like it. But this sounds to us of the work-a-day world something like a fairy tale.

The Sultans show very little of Spanish influence, they having never been really dominated by Spain. Theater and Filipino has been Spanish manners for a couple of centuries past, but in Sulu one finds a crude, barbaric, most picturesque native. Little affected by the white man's civilization. He resembles the Apache Indian in physique, but does not wear his hair long; he is counted fearless as the typical Indian of olden days, and shows his courage both on land and sea, as much at home in the water as any Indian of them all. Lieut. Col. Owen J. Swift, military governor of the Sulu archipelago, reports there is no record of a Moro drowning. When engaged in the pearl fishing, an important industry of Sulu, the Moros dive to the bottom of the sea at depths of from 75 to 100 feet.

The costume affected by the Sulu male reminds one of comic opera make-up; trousers similar to a clown's tights, a loose upper garment, and a funnel-shaped affair for head covering. The dress of the Sulu woman is very similar to that of her brother, only her lower garments are of more generous cut. Mr. Whitmarsh, an appreciative traveler, thus describes a Sulu dandy: "One fellow I saw was decked out in a pair of skin-tight trousers embroidered with silk in stripes of orange, red and green, and buttoned from ankle to calf with small pearl discs. His waist was encircled many times by a dazzling sash, also of many colors, which held in position, ready for instant use, a small knife dagger and a splendid wavy handled baron. A light Eton jacket of apple green, with sleeves reaching to the knuckles, partially covered his upper half; and a howling red and yellow turban crowned the costume."

A sultan while yet a mere lad began to wear a display of weapons, and the weapons worn in Sulu land are dreadful things, though splendid as to mountings, and always keen and bright. The favorite is a double-edge sword, the kris, whose hilt is of carved wood, silver or ivory. The camilan is another favorite, a weapon with a long blade that broadens toward the end; its handle is of wood grotesquely carved and decorated with dried horsehair and little bells. It is needless to remark that the camilan is a most unpleasant looking instrument of death. The barong is a stout, heavy knife sharp-pointed and having but one edge. At work or play, the weapon is ever kept within easy reach.

Sulu is a queer land of piracy, polygamy and slavery. Nearly all the inhabitants are Mohammedan Malays, to whom the Spaniards gave the name Moros in remembrance of other Mohammedans that had been in times past a terror to the Spanish peninsula. The same has stood for dare-devil deeds and piracy of the most daring sort, and the present day Moros pride themselves on the reputation of their people. Those who know them declare they are not quite so courageous as they think themselves, but they like to be considered big braves and swagger around considerably. The chief are surrounded with a ridiculous lot of ceremony, and the sultan has courtiers, retainers and slaves; then on each island, or in each district, there are certain leaders called dattos. When the United States made terms with the sultan, the latter was to receive from the former a certain pension, and his dattos, "during good behavior," also were to be remunerated, or pensioned, or given tribute—whatever way one may please to look at it.

The Spaniards looked upon the Moros as fierce and bloodthirsty, but the Americans have been able to advance in friendly relations with them and have gone among them pretty freely. And it may be that as the popularity of the Americans has increased there has been a corresponding decrease in that of the aboriginal sultan.

The sultan is greedy as well as arbitrary, and for some time has been very unpopular with his subjects. The best of the pearls go to the sultan, and he receives other taxes from the pearl fishing. The revenues being derived from arbitrary taxes, one cannot wonder that in Sulu blessed is no thing. It is said the sultan will do anything for money, and the following story is told of the manner in which he administered justice: "A Moro lost a carabao by theft. He located the thief and complained to the sultan, who fined the thief $105 and confiscated the carabao."

The sultan is described as a small man with a repulsive face, his thick, protruding lips, flat nose and swarthy skin indicating his Malay origin. His costume, when he is dressed for an audience with white men, is copied from European modes, with a few little details added to suit his own fancy—evening dress suit, diamond shirt studs, a very large diamond ring on his finger, a huge pearl for further adornment, tan shoes on his feet, a black and white turban on his head.

The sultan's mother has long been the power behind the throne and is a personality deserving of extended mention. Somebody should make her heroine of a comic opera—or perhaps, rather, a tragedy, she being fond of dealing in poisons and other tragic accessories. The sultan is sufficiently mothered; and, wired, I believe, beyond the extent of the law; but he is childish.

KATHERINE POPE.

Wanted Information. "Gentlemen of the jury," said the judge, as he concluded his charge, "if the evidence shows in your minds that pneumonia, even indirectly, was the cause of the man's death, the prisoner cannot be convicted."

An hour later a messenger came from the jury room.

"The gentlemen of the jury, my lord," he said, "desire information."

"On what point of evidence?"

"None, your honor; but they want to know how to spell pneumonia."

THE BITS.

WISCONSIN STATE NEWS.

Deadly Tornado.
A tornado which passed through Independence did property damage amounting to $125,000, killed two persons and injured eight. The dead are Joseph S. Smith, aged 79, and John Kupik, aged 12. Near Sheridan Mrs. Fisher, Mrs. Cippri, Mr. R. H. Hight, Mark Wood and an unknown girl were killed and 20 buildings were destroyed. At Ashland thousands of feet of lumber were blown into the lay off the lumber docks. At Marengo and Sanborn large trees were uprooted and many small buildings were blown from foundations.

Steamer Goes Down.
The passenger steamer Erie L. Hackley, of Fish Creek, foundered in Green Bay during a hard squall and 15 persons were drowned. Fitzsimmons, of Jacksonport. Nine survivors of the shipwreck were rescued by the steamer Sheboygan of the Goodrich line after they had floated for many hours on pieces of wreckage.

In the Wrong Place.
Joseph Meyer, a Milwaukee harness maker, who attracted a great deal of attention from physicians some years ago because of the unusual location of his heart, is dead. The heart failed to do its work at last, although until a few hours before his death he appeared to be as well as ever. Not only was his heart on his right side in the exact location it should have been on his left, but the positions of all his internal organs were in just the opposite positions to which they are found in the average man.

Killed on Last Trip.
Drakeham Fred W. Schultz, of Appleton, caught his foot in a frog in the yard of the Ashland division of the Northwestern railway at Wausau and was run over by the train he was helping to make up, and killed. He started from Appleton on his last trip, intending to quit the road, after having spent the morning with his bride to be, Miss Anna Kranzsch.

Speculators Drop $50,000.
The bearish condition of the stock markets for the last several weeks has resulted in heavy losses to Racine speculators. It is said that fully $50,000 has been dropped. Most of the losers are young men. There are five commission houses in Racine, and all do a big business. In past years even one commission house could not have lived a month.

Girls from All States.
Kemper Hall opened for its thirty-third year in Kenosha with the largest attendance in the history of the school. More than 125 students already have entered and it is expected the number will reach the 150 mark before the first term is closed. Every state in the union and China and Japan are represented.

Youngest Soldier.
George J. Chamberlain, aged 23 years, died in Milwaukee of cancer, after a long illness. Peter Frost, the Racine merchant who was reported to have been murdered in Denmark, where he went on business and pleasure, has arrived home and says he reached Denmark without incident and had no trouble of any character.

BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS.

Katherine Schmitt will play for 49 nights in Vienna, during which she will impersonate Empress Maria Theresa, the emperor's great grandmother.

A London Journal figures out that the annual income of J. M. Barrie in royalties from his plays and his books amounts to close on $125,000. There are some things worse than being a successful playwright.

Out of the 43 metronymic markings, taken straight through from the beginning of the first volume of Beethoven's sonatas, the four standard editions as a working basis, 19 are set to a rhythm of 78 and 76 to the minute, a rate exactly that of the average normal healthy adult pulse.

Not all who know the English actor, Sir Charles Wyndham by name and fame, know that he is a qualified physician and was a surgeon in our own civil war. After he received his diploma the good offices of P. T. Barnum secured him an introduction to Gen. Banks and an appointment. Sir Charles still treasures the sword which, as brigade surgeon of the Nineteenth army corps, he carried through the seven days' and Red river campaigns.

MR. BISSELL IS DEAD.

Close of the Career of the Former Postmaster General of the United States.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Wilson S. Bissell, former postmaster general, died at 10:15 o'clock Tuesday night. At about noon he sank into a deep sleep, and it was with difficulty that he was aroused at intervals during the afternoon for nourishment and medicine. The end came easily and peacefully. Dr. Dewitt Sherman, the physician who has been attending him during his recent illness, and members of the family were at his bedside.

Mr. Bissell suffered from complications thought to be akin to Bright's disease, although not well understood. On June 1 Mr. Bissell's trouble became so serious that he was sent to New York to consult specialists. It was thought an operation would be performed, but after an examination the specialists decided that it would be better for the patient first to rebuild his health. He was sent to his summer home, Bar Harbor, where he spent several weeks. He spent most of the time there in bed and it was realized that his case was hopeless. In September he returned to Buffalo. Some important legal matters in which he was interested were disposed of and Mr. Bissell was again forced to bed. He suffered no pain, sleeping most of the time. When awake his mind was always clear and he conversed with members of the family and the physicians. During the latter part of his illness numerous messages of inquiry were received from former President Cleveland and members of the cabinet in which Mr. Bissell served as postmaster general.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 10.—The funeral of Wilson S. Bissell, former postmaster general, took place Friday. All the courts in the city adjourned as a mark of respect. The body was cremated. The list of honorary bearers included Grover Cleveland, former president of the United States; John G. Carlisle, former secretary of the treasury, and Hoke Smith, former secretary of the interior.

INQUIRY ENDS.

Final Batch of Indictments Returned by Grand Jury Investigating Postal Scandals.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Fifteen new indictments were brought in by the supreme court for the District of Columbia Monday as the final result of the investigation in the post office department. Several of these findings were against persons who have already been indicted. The new indictments involve James N. Tynes, the late assistant attorney general for the post office department, and his assistant, Harrison J. Barrett; James T. Mitchell, superintendent of the money order system of the post office department; Norman Mitchell, son of James T. Mitchell; Harry C. Hallenback, president and general manager of the Wynkoop, Hallenback & Crawford company, of New York, the firm which for several years supplied the department with its money order blanks; and William D. Doremus, who is connected with a house which has been supplying a stamp canceling machine to the department. There were additional indictments against August W. Machen, former superintendent of free delivery; George W. Beavers, formerly chief of the salary and allowance division; W. Scott Towers, who was in charge of a subsection of the Washington city post office, and State Senator George A. Green, of New York. In some cases there were several indictments against one person.

The principal charge against Tynes and Barrett is that of misconduct in office, in obstructing and preventing the free and orderly administration of the law. It is stated that there were no less than $9 of the so-called land investment companies to which the opinion of the department was sent, together with the circular intimating that Barrett's services as attorney could be secured.

WILL SUE SCHWAB.

Shipyard Trust to Seek to Recover $250,000—Result of Suit May Affect Other Big Combines.

New York, Oct. 12.—The sensational litigation connected with the shipyard trust has taken a turn which may have a serious effect on many of the huge New Jersey corporations. Those who are attacking Charles M. Schwab will attempt to have the courts assess him for the full difference between what he actually paid for his huge blocks of shipyard trust and its par value. This attack will be made under the New Jersey corporation act, and prominent lawyers declare that it can be done. Schwab was in "on the ground floor" in the promotion, and the difference between par value and what he paid for his original $250,000 in stock would be more than enough to place the shipyard trust on its feet. Inasmuch as many of the big trusts were promoted in a similar—if less wasteful—manner to the shipyard trust, this law would apply to them should they become insolvent. The decision in this respect will be watched for with the greatest interest.

It is announced on the highest authority that the severest possible assault will be made on Charles M. Schwab, and a receiver asked for his immensely valuable Bethlehem steel plant, which is earning $2,000,000 a year profits. Schwab is to be sued to cancel his $10,000,000 second mortgages on all shipyards, he is to be sued to cancel his mortgage on the Bethlehem steel plant, and he is to be sued to recover $200,000,000 of stock liabilities. This bomb will be exploded when the preliminary report of Receiver Smith is filed this week. Tired of the stories that he is dodging the subpoenaed records, Schwab will receive the service papers in the matter now before Henry D. Oliphant, the special examiner. The amount of the assessment, which it is estimated the stockholders of the concern should be forced to meet, is variously stated, but approximately $2,000,000. Schwab is credited with having vast untold wealth irrespective of the others, whose stock liabilities may be alleged.

The New Jersey corporation act makes the original stockholders liable to the debts of the corporation. If "original" stockholders are meant those who first received the stock from the company in return for cash payments or some value received, but who did not pay full par value.

CHURCH WILL URGE PEACE.

Methodists and Other Denominations Will Try to Effect Understanding Between Capital and Labor.

New York, Oct. 12.—The Methodist Episcopal church in America has decided to lend its efforts to the settlement of the labor troubles in this country. Bishop H. G. Andrews, who has an office in the Methodist building in Fifth avenue, is leading the movement, and he has hopes of interesting other denominations in it. If the present plans are a success an inter-denominational convention may be held next summer to elect a committee on labor and capital.

Following the initiative of the Methodist, Rev. Dr. R. S. MacArthur, of Calvary Baptist church, announced that he would bring the matter before the Baptist association at its meeting next week and make an effort to have that denomination cooperate with other denominations in the settlement of strikes.

Bishop Andrews, it is announced, has appointed the following committee on labor and capital: The Rev. E. B. Crawford, H. F. Ward, J. A. J. Whipple, H. C. Jackson, William C. Dixon, G. S. Young and Charles D. Warren, all of the Aurora conference. This committee will meet soon in some of the larger cities to devise ways and means for meeting both employers and employees on neutral ground to discuss the labor and capital questions dispassionately and attempt to make some definite point of agreement. Bishop Andrews will be chairman of the committee.

WHOLESALE SUICIDES.

Seven Officials of a Hungarian City Prefer Death to Trifling Nationalist Charges.

Vienna, Oct. 12.—An amazing tragedy has taken place at Pester, a small municipality in southern Hungary. The entire municipal council, consisting of seven persons, all related to each other, committed suicide. It appears that an opportunity arose to sell a forest which was municipal property. The council resolved itself on this occasion into a family selling council, and secretly made the sale. The seven divided the proceeds among themselves. At last, however, the whole affair was discovered in a dramatic manner, when, rather than face the consequences of their action, the seven councilors held a hurried meeting and then put an end to their lives.

Washington, Oct. 12.—A cablegram was received at the navy department Saturday from Rear Admiral Cotton, at Beirut, stating that the conditions there continue quiet. He reports that he has exchanged visits with the new governor general at Beirut.

Disturbance Causes Four Deaths.
Madrid, Oct. 12.—A socialist demonstration of 20,000 workmen took place at Bilbao Sunday during which a serious collision occurred between the demonstrators and the clericals with the result that four persons were killed and 25 injured.

Mayor Is Reminded.
Mattoon, Ill., Oct. 12.—Judge Henley passed sentence on Mayor Menke, who was found guilty of being in gambling houses. A fine of $5 and costs in each of the three counts was assessed and the mayor removed from office. The city council will meet to-night to call an election for mayor.

House Daughter and Son.
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Oct. 12.—Mrs. A. J. Smetena, wife of the night jailer in police headquarters, hung her one-year-old daughter and then hung herself Friday night. Insanity caused by ill-health was the cause.

Early Winter Millinery Modes

HERE are signs of a great change coming over the spirit of the millinery world. Birds, wings, and quills are being extensively used for trimming traveling and morning hats; in fact, there is evidence of a "feathery" winter in front of us. The three hats sketched show exactly the characteristic features of the new winter morning hats. The French sailor on the left is of black and white felt, trimmed with white wings and a chon of black silk ribbon. On the right is one of the glorified tammy toques, which are so popular for traveling and golf; it is mounted, as all tammys should be, on a circular bandeau, cut very deep at the side, where it is trimmed with wings and a twist of ribbon. The third hat is sketched with a view to meeting the requirements of the sportswoman. It is made of stitched cloth or tweed, matching the costume with which it is to be worn, and has two pleasant quills held in place by a small clasp at the left side, and loops of ribbon at the back.

It seems that we are also to have a revival of the high "jampot" crowns and sharply-turned-up brims for smart winter headgear. These hats usually have rather high upstanding trimming of ostrich plumes, or else one long feather curling over the turned-up brim. Beavers, too, will have quite a vogue of their own; I have seen one, a very silky beaver of a dark strawberry shade with a glint of deadleaf brown about it, due to some silky brown hairs being woven into the material. This particular hat was of cornet shape, with the left brim rolled up over the crown, and filled in with ruchings of pale strawberry satin. The only trimming on the upper part of the hat was a bird of the parakeet species, with plumage of every imaginary shade of pink and red. Many milliners are also making up colored chenille hats and toques in brown, green and mauve, trimmed with speckled and parti-colored birds and wings.

The close-fitting Tudor toque will be much in evidence among the early autumn models in velvet and silk. The French sailor and the Toreador are giving place to the Robespierre, showing a high crown and a wider brim in front, but caught abruptly up at the back, where great, thick choirs rest on the collar, which, by the way, is mostly high once again over here. A great many of the new hats are trimmed with ruches of satin or velvet, and with wings across the back. It is a little early yet to talk of fur toques, but there will be some charming mixtures of fur, velvet and lace. Velvet headgear, I believe, will be a feature of next month's fashions. Entire hats of satin will also be a novelty. But millinery nowadays is most fascinating, and the construction of a chapeau represents most wonderful artistic genius and discloses excellent workmanship and fine stitching. In hats, lines should be bold and materials beautiful, and although a certain amount of airy daintiness and effect can be achieved with cheap muslins and lace during the summer months, this does not do in the autumn. A felt or velvet hat must be distinctive and exquisite in shape and color.

Simplicity is always the highest perfection of the milliner's art, and I can safely say the picture hat of the coming season will be surprisingly beautiful and artistic.

Berries and autumn flowers will be seen a good deal at first. Chrysanthemums and shaded camellias made of mixed panes and silk in wonderful shadings will be the favorites. For the moment travelling hats in soft felt and Panama, simply trimmed with foulard scarves, are in evidence, and these will gradually give place to felts. Nowadays, if we visit the leading tailors and hatters we can get toques admirably suited to outdoor sports, but these are specialties which do not come into the category of new millinery. It is only within the last few years that we have been able to really look our best when wearing practical headgear; to do so now it needs care and discrimination, for soft, picturesque headgear is more suited to the majority of women than a tweed cap. But with skillful manipulation of the trim and a careful choice of colors leading milliners have achieved success in this line.

The waistband, for instance, shows a tendency towards tightness. It is so much looser that it almost forms a corset in itself, and some of the most charming early Victorian fashions are enhanced by the addition of beautifully fitted, pointed waistbands.

Personally, I like the fuller skirts. Serpentine draperies are now only permitted in frocks for house wear. The new full skirt of the moment is a triumph of elegance, and whether it be long or short, it has a most distinctive air.

There are, as usual, a great many after-season wedding coming off during the next few weeks, and in view of the vexation of spirit caused by the effort to think of something pretty and original for the bridesmaids to wear at a time when fashions are somewhat at a standstill, I will describe the dainty bridesmaid's gown which is pictured, and which I saw recently.

It is of palest yellow mousseline de soie. The bodice has a transparent yoke of ericetinted lace, and a deep mauve lerie edged with deep tucks and fastened in front with a bunch of russet brown velvet ribbon, which is also used for the sash and to trim the full elbow sleeves. The skirt is gathered on the hips, and gaped and tucked from the knees to the hem. The picture hat accompanying this dress is of brown beaver with the new jam-pot crown. Each of the bridesmaids should carry a marigold stick with a bouquet of chrysanthemums tied to it with the palest yellow streamers, similar to the one shown in the sketch. It is a very pretty fashion, that of dressing the bridesmaids in the color of the flowers they are to carry, and the chrysanthemum scheme just described is quite ideal for an autumn wedding, for it is light and dainty without looking unseasonable or chilly.

For a bride's dress, white mousseline de soie is a very suitable material. To have the wedding dress made on somewhat the same lines of the bridesmaid's frock has been one of the unwritten laws of the past season, and it is a very good rule, too, for it prevents the wedding cortege looking "patchy."

The real elegance does not dress very elaborately now in the daytime, but in the evening the display of picture hats and wonderful toilettes is extraordinary. Nothing seems too gorgeous for the raves, where the select colors are worn with any gown

GOOD GAME OF FOOTBALL

The Game Saturday Between Wausau and Rhinelander High School Teams.

Score Being 5 to 5.

The high school football team succeeded in holding the husky eleven from Wausau to a tie score Saturday. The game was called at 2:00 p. m. with a good sized crowd present. Cole of Appleton and Hansen of Wausau acted as officials. Wausau won the toss and chose the west goal. On the first play it looked as though the Wausau team was going to walk over the home eleven, but after learning that the weight of the Wausau team didn't signify their ability to show the local boys any points of the game, our boys took a decided brace and held the visitors on downs. The ball changed hands several times during the remainder of the first half, neither goal being in danger at any time. The score at the end of the first half stood Wausau 0, Rhinelander 0.

Wausau kicked off to Rhinelander and by a series of end runs Rhinelander advanced the ball to Wausau's 15 yard line. Here Diller, at right tackle, took the ball through Wausau's right tackle for a touchdown. The goal was a very difficult one, Vaughan missed it by about a foot. Wausau then took the ball on the kick-off and by end runs advanced it to Rhinelander's 20 yard line. Wausau soon after made a touchdown by successive mass plays directed against our right tackle. Wausau punted out to the 25 yard line but failed to gain, score Rhinelander 5, Wausau 5. On the kick-off Rhinelander made a few plays and lost the ball. Time was called with the ball in Wausau's possession in the center of the field.

The game as a whole was well played, and little rough work was practiced by either side to any extent. Although the Wausau team outgrew the local eleven nearly 10 pounds to the man, it was demonstrated to the satisfaction of all that the local line-up is composed of excellent material and with the proper training ought to make it interesting for any team in this section. Good individual playing was a feature of the game but good team work which is most essential to a winning team was seen to be lacking. This score will entitle the High school eleven to another game to decide the Wisconsin valley championship with Wausau providing Wausau defeats Merrill next Saturday.

New Law Firm.

Kemp & Reeves is the name of a new firm that will expound Blackstone here in the city. The firm is made up of two young men from Madison, one of whom is well known here. Harry G. Kemp, whose father Geo. H. Kemp formerly occupied the pulpit in the Congregational church. The other member of the firm, Harry L. Reeves, comes from the Barr Jones law office at Madison. Both gentlemen are graduates from the law department of the University of Wisconsin, class of 1902, and both have had experience along the line they have taken up. Mr. Kemp acted as manager of the North-Western Auditing and Adjustment Co., and also as secretary of the Madison General Hospital while in the Capitol city. Kemp & Reeves' offices are in the H. Lewis' building, over the clothing store.

ANOTHER CLOTHING FIRM.

Hitting Minnesota Haberdashery Dishes Upon Rhinelander as a Location. The Hinman building on Dayton street will soon be occupied by a clothing firm. A. Levitt, representing H. M. Buck of Hibbing, Minn., was in Rhinelander last week and after looking the field over decided that this place was a good one to tie to. He was pleased with the Hinman building and promptly leased it. The store will be opened to the public Nov. 1st.

Junior Church Rally.

The Junior Congregational church members held their annual rally and banquet at the church Wednesday evening of this week. There were set for fifty members. After business and plans were outlined, the company was entertained with many stereopticon lantern views. The organization starts the new year with bright prospects. The first Junior church service for the season will be held next Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Congregational church. The Junior choir will furnish the music and Gloria Hart will give the sermon. Fifteen new members are to be received as members.

New Opera House Manager.

John Lind has resigned as manager of the Grand opera house, the resignation having taken effect Tuesday night, Oct. 13. Mr. Lind has not decided as yet what business he will engage in although he has several openings. He will visit his old home at Ogema prior to tying himself up for the winter. The new manager of the house Mr. M. C. Harbut is from Chicago and is a man of experience in business pertaining to the management of theatres.

Violators of the Law.

Jack Nye, John Condy and Jerry Grant were arrested by Game Warden Othertolter at Three Lakes last Friday for hunting deer contrary to law, and with hounds. The men were taken before Justice Donnelly at Three Lakes and pleaded guilty. They were fined $25.00 apiece and costs and were released upon payment of the amounts.

LAY SERMON.

Love, I would have thee know is, while And pure on hill tops of the winter day.

Sometimes the real moral and intellectual fiber of a man may be ascertained from his expressed conception of womanhood. The gross in life are gross in thought, the pure in living are pure in thought and expression. The best of the Pentateuch is "blessed are the pure in heart," and their reward is the most exalted. But when I read the little poem in Harper's Magazine, of which the text is the opening lines, it struck me that the poet had a super refined taste, or rather that he demanded something which nature rarely furnishes, and which can hardly be found this side of the angelic host.

Now we all are justified in demanding the best the market affords. And the choice of wives and sweethearts is no exception. Whatever we may think in our blither moods, whatever may satisfy us in our amiable saunterings, when we approach the arrangements for serious business and permanent relations we become surprisingly fastidious. But even then we are apt, especially if poetically inclined, to overdo it, don't you think?

It may not be technically the preacher's province to advise, at least publicly, on this subject. But my pulpit is wherever the hour overtakes me, and whenever the spiritual or moral telephone rings me up I am ready to respond.

Young man, don't marry an angel, even if you could get one, which is a debatable question. In the first place her wings would be in the way. A pair of snowy pinions are not among the conveniences of domestic life. Besides you need someone who is able and willing to walk by your side over the rough and rugged roads instead of resorting to aerial navigation. In the second place, if you are a worker and not a drone you can't maintain your strength and activity on angelic food, however delectable it may be. You need somebody who can appreciate the substantial benefits of pork and beans as well as the ambrosia of peaches and cream.

Moreover, while a pure mind and virtuous character are indispensable, everybody in this rough and tumble world must needs encounter and tolerate the disagreeable and repulsive. But, still more difficult, they are compelled to meet and resist the attractions of pretentious and exotic beauty. So she of your choice, while able to appreciate real beauty and sweetness, must not fear or shrink if, while enjoying the rose's red, the violet's blue and the sugar's sweetness, she should find that those enchanting hues and qualities are but a mask for falsehood, treachery and vice. In other words, the woman who is to help you along in your career must be strongly fortified and able to meet, with a reasonable degree of equanimity, the repulsive as well as the attractive side of life. So while you demand a character whose purity is symbolized by the whiteness on the hill tops, don't forget that common sense, utility and applied goodness are also essentials of real happiness. An all around woman is better than any sublimated creature who seeks her habitats among the clouds and transcends the valleys only because she has to.

But the poet seems to me to be a little one-sided, and I think we all are more or less inclined to that condition. The old idea that men are lords of creation has been greatly modified in the light of christian civilization. There is a divided empire now, and the division has not been established through man's magnanimity, but by force of the eternal laws of right and fitness.

You have indicated what you want and have the right to expect, now what do you offer in exchange? Just remember that one-sided men and one-sided institutions are apt, indeed certain, to fail. We are fast approaching the point, if we have not already reached it, where reciprocity is an essential element in all the relations of life. There still are men, mosquitoes by nature and tyrants in practice, who enter the matrimonial market and expect to secure what they want without rendering any decent equivalent. Such are many titled Europeans, noble only in name, who marry American heiresses in exchange for a barren title. Small pity such women deserve or receive if their ventures result disastrously.

Now, young man, if you have entered this competition for matrimonial prizes, what is your capital? Not by the dollar measurement. Pure minded people leave that out or give it only secondary consideration. But what have you in the abstract or concrete to justify your demand for the hand of a good and pure woman? Are you ready to start at the foot of the ladder instead of beginning at the top and working downwards? If so you have decidedly won the first point. Do you believe that a wife should be a partner instead of a vassal? Are you willing to cut off superfluities, to live frugally, to part company with fast or evil companions, to make home your club house, to allow all reasonable concessions to wife and children in regulating your hours of business and pleasure, to consider the demands of family a first lien on your strength, industry, virtue and income? Have you a good heart, sound judgment, temperate habits and a sweet breath? If you can truthfully give affirmative answers to this catechism go in and win with a God speed from all your acquaintances. But if you feel that success should come through some sort of Aladdin's lamp, necromancy, if you expect to secure a servant instead of a partner; if you insist on outliving your indulgences, want the fat of the land without earning it, retain your losem cronies, hang around your old haunts, make home subservient to your pleasure or convenience, give home necessities a secondary place, let evil practices befall your heart, give free swing to the demands of a good time with the boys and go home with a breath which is a combination of alcohol, nicotine and more atrocious exhalation—then God help those who look to you for support, sympathy, comfort or happiness; better steal a millstone, hang it about your neck and drown yourself in the depths of the sea.

It all comes back to the point of reciprocity. Give and take is the motto. Concession should be proportionate to demand. This should be nothing less than an equal partnership. When this principle is fully recognized, when in this most vital of all relationships, the man realizes that he must equal the woman in goodness and purity and acts fully up to that realization, then, and not until then, will mankind measure up to the design manifested in his creation and posterity reap the benefit of good heredity. So mote it be.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. You can get this reliable remedy at J. J. Reardon's Drug Store. Prices 25c and 75c.

CHICAGO, THE WONDERFUL

International Live Stock Exposition and the features of the City.

The greatest exhibition of its kind in the world.

Chicago no sooner gets the Centennial Celebration of the past week out of the way, than she begins to consider means for making the International Live Stock Exposition, to be held this fall, better than any ever held in the past. This, for Chicago, is not difficult to accomplish, for over $2,000,000 of live stock was handled at the Union Stock Yards last year, almost three hundred thousand carloads of live stock being received at the Chicago market during this period. This makes the city one of the greatest live stock centers in the world.

The International Live Stock Exposition has been an educational agency of the greatest value to those who have visited the show in recent years from the cattle ranges and feeding grounds of the west. Three sources of supply are placed within easy reach of the city by such trunk lines of railway as the Chicago & North-Western, which brings to Chicago each year 700,000 carloads of live stock, raised and fed in the territory it reaches. The people living in this rich agricultural region, tributary to Chicago, are evincing each year more interest in the betterment of their stock. The exhibition at the Union Stock Yards during the International Exposition this fall will be one of the most notable ever seen, and its chief value will be along educational lines, looking to the improving of breeds and raising of standards, which means just so much more money in the pockets of the producer.

Full particulars as to the program of the International together with announcements of low railway rates via the North-Western Line will appear later.

Very Low Rates to Kansas City, Mo., Via the North-Western Line. Excursion tickets will be sold Oct. 16 to 21, inclusive, with very favorable return limits, on account of American Royal Live Stock Exhibition. Apply to Agents Chicago & North-Western R'y. as 29
